The Blinded Veterans Association's public relations efforts nationally is the BVA Bulletin, a periodical sent in printed form to all blinded veterans and their families for whom the Association has contact information. Members-only receive an audiocassette version. The Bulletin focuses on issues and events relating to blinded veterans but also covers general topics about veterans. It strives to keep blinded veterans abreast of services, benefits, and legislation.

The publication provides as much detail as possible on issues relating to blind rehabilitation and the blind and visually impaired communities at large.

There is no charge to receive the Bulletin in print format. The Bulletin is also available online which is compatible with ZoomText and most screen readers for the blind and visually impaired.
